

Tributes - Michael Frederic Paul

This marks the passing of a true character; one whose difference gave texture to our lives. He was at least a question mark in our conformity and the personification of Polonius' "to thine ownself." He was more, of course. No doubt his family members' lives were and are the better for all of it.

Jack Lynch

Mike was someone we will all remember, always. I can't count the number of times he made me laugh or smile. He was a joy just to be around. With that whitish hair and always smiling face (showing that gold tooth!), I will never forget at "After Dinner Speaking" him beginning with "Unaccustomed as I am at public speaking...." and it brought the house down, with just the way he said it. He was one of a kind, and we were all lucky to have known him. I can imagine the fun it must have been to have been a customer in his cab!!

My condolences and prayers to his family. I'm sure he already has God laughing.

Turner W. Taylor

Wonderful expression that sure echoes what I would have said although from a different time and a different set of circumstances. I am sure that is true of all of us.

Roy L. Rogers